

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE COUNTY.

JERMAINE & BRIGHAMAN,
PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

T. D. JERMAINE..... R. D. BRIGHAMAN.

RUFUS KING, Editor.

TERMS OF THE SENTINEL.

DAILY $1.00—TRI-WEEKLY $4.00—WEEKLY $1.50

INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

MILWAUKEE ETC.

FRIDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 10, 1858.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

FOR CONGRESS, FIRST DISTRICT,

JOHN F. POTTER.

SECOND DISTRICT,

CATHALIAH C. WASHBURN.

THIRD DISTRICT,

CHARLES BILLINGHURST.

Republican State Convention.

A REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION will be held at the Assembly Hall in the City of Madison Tuesday the 4th day of October next, at 9 o'clock A.M.

The object of the Convention is to consider the interests and welfare of the party, and all such useful measures to insure its harmonious and vigorous action, and the perfection of its State and local organization, and such other matters as may properly come before it.

It is recommended that each Assembly District send two delegates, and it is hoped that good men Republicans from all parts of the State will attend and aid the Convention by their presence and address.

H. A. TENNEY. JULIUS WEITZ.

W. M. ROGERS. GREGORY MCKENZIE.

W. H. COLEMAN. GEORGE GARY.

E. L. PHILLIPS. GORGE L. GRAVES.

Madison, August 1, 1858.

Nomination of Judge Dunn—Something for adopted Citizens to consider.

The remark made by BIRIAN BROWN, in the Democratic state convention of 1855, that "the Dunn family were taking the place of the Dodge family in our politics," is illustrated by the result of the Democratic Congressional convention in the Second District, on Wednesday last. The choice fell, as had been previously arranged, upon the Hon. CHARLES DUNN, of Lafayette county, ex-Chief Justice of Wisconsin Territory. Judge Dunn is an old resident of the western portion of our State, and until within the last few years has been rather prominent as a political man. He was overshadowed, however, by Governor Dodge, who carried off by the highest political prizes, leaving to Judge Dunn those of inferior grade and dignity. Judge Dunn is a native of Kentucky, a zealous disciple of the Southern school of Democracy; and a firm believer in Fugitive Slave Acts, Dred Scott decisions, Nebraska Inquiries, and the other natural and necessary incidents of the system of Slavery. He is, with, a man of good abilities, courteous manners, and respectable character, stands well with his friends and neighbors; and, all things considered, may be set down as a fair representative of the party which has put him in nomination.

Judge Dunn was a member of the convention which framed the Constitution of this State, and took a leading part in its proceedings. He was especially prominent in the debate on the Slave question. Judge Dunn died with many Western Democrats and Whigs, that persons of foreign birth ought not to be permitted to vote until after five years residence and being fully naturalized. Under the territorial law, they had been allowed to vote after one year's residence and a declaration of intention to become citizens. This privilege Judge Dunn proposed to restrict, and to require a five-year's residence and full papers from all foreign-born electors. Judge Dunn moved an amendment to this effect and supported it in an earnest argument. The amendment was, however, rejected, and the election franchise secured to foreigners on the same terms under the State, as under the territorial law.

Judge Dunn is now presented to the suffragists of the People, as the representative of the Democratic Party. Without the votes of that class of electors whom Judge Dunn sought to proselytize, the Democratic party in this State would be in the least possible minority. Take away the Irish and German vote, and "National Democracy" would be beaten down to 55,000 to 75,000. This vote is their right; and it has many and oftentimes given them a signal victory. Yet with characteristic ingenuity, with deliberate disregard of the feelings and opinions of our German and Irish fellow-citizens, the Party leaders in the Second District acted for their standard-bearer a gentleman who made himself conspicuous in the Constitutional convention in the effort to deprive foreigners of the right of suffrage!

As in this district, by the nomination of BIRIAN BROWN, the Democratic leaders have identified themselves with the "Corporationists" again; whom they have chanted so loudly and so long, so in the Second District, they have identified themselves with the "Know-Nothings" and by the nomination of Judge Dunn have formally endorsed his noble crusade against the rights and privileges of adoption. Considering the persistent efforts which they have so far made in being the only true friends of the foreigner, this nomination, must strike abo of our foreign-born electors, who still follow the ignis fatuus of Sham Democracy, with ardor and enthusiasm. But they will "live and learn." We doubt whether they will endorse "Know-Nothing" by voting for BIRIAN BROWN in this district, or embrace "Know-Nothing" by supporting Judge Dunn in the Second.

"Democracy means 'roughing'."

The No, which but a little while ago, was very sympathetic in declaring that "Democracy" meant BIRIAN BROWN, is now equally positive that it means DOUGLASS.

Judge BIRIAN, the individual elected by the Administration men of Illinois for the Senate, has declined to make a fool of him. He is not a candidate. Ike COOK, or Carpenter, will have to do. "Democracy" in Illinois means Douglass.

Ditto in Wisconsin. If there be any BIRIAN Democracy here, it keeps man and hides its diminished head. Even our Federal office-holders, who wear the livery and accent; the wigs of the administration, are supporting Douglass candidates for Congress! And the more meek of this fact in the Sentinel of Wednesday, throws the Noe into another of those "Noo-n" paroxysms, which fill it every few days. Mr. NOOAN is charged with the article, and the Sentinel with a design to bestow present capable Postmaster, Mr. STRYKES—Both charges are like false and foolish. Mr. NOOAN had no more to do with the article, which so disturbed the Noe, than Col. SHAWVER, and the Sentinel is entirely satisfied with the present occupant of our City Post-Office.

Opening the B.O.

Vermont, the Green Mountain State, "the star that never sets," opened the ball for the Fall campaign on Tuesday last, in her usual thorough-going and emphatic style. The Republicans sweep the State like a whirlwind. Their majority on Governor is a solid fifteen and twenty thousand, in the legislature is all one way. The Free-States "National Democracy" Administration party, was routed and repudiated at all points.

State Fair Address.—On the moment of going to press, a letter was received by the Secretary of the State Agricultural Society, from C. S. M. CO., of New Haven, accepting an invitation to speak before the Annual Advertiser at the State Fair—Madison, Jesuit.

We are glad to hear of this selection. The reputation of Mr. CLAY will attract a crowd of hearers, and his oratorical abilities are a sufficient guarantee that he will give us an able ad-

ANTI-LECOMPTON MEETING IN NEW YORK.—*Forney and Haskin on the Stump at Tarrytown—Buchanan's "Tragedy" Exposed—How Editors were won over to the Lecompton Battle in Congress—The Administration—The Administration—*Read it! Read it!

A large Anti-Lecompton meeting was held in the 17th Congressional District, New York, at Tarrytown, on Thursday afternoon, which was addressed by Col. Forney, and Anti-Lecompton Democrat, of Philadelphia, and John B. Walker, Anti-Lecompton Senator of the Senate of Congress. The meeting was held at the Hotel of the Washington Union, Tarrytown, and was said upon the subject of the Oxford and McGee frauds.

No voice was heard in Washington against it; but I supposed some malignant individuals had got up a meeting to discredit our party, and it had got about eleven thousand dollars for it, and the money had largely become chronic with it, and I allowed it to pass by. But when the dark, dawning deed of Lecompton was perpetrated, then I saw for the first time that those gallant men in the Territory, Walker and McGee, had done their duty.

The meeting was large and enthusiastic. From the speeches of the gentlemen named, we make the following extracts commencing with that of Col. Forney:

BUCHANAN'S POSITION ON THE KANSAS QUESTION.
IN 1850.

Mr. Forney, referring to the position of Mr. Buchanan at the time of his nomination for the Presidency, said:

No man felt more deeply in reference to Kansas than did Mr. Buchanan. No man talked more freely about it. In his last speech he spoke of it, and of the administration, and in the speech he delivered in the Committee upon it in his performance (at which I happened to be present) he left it upon the great principle that the majority should prevail. Why, he said to me, "I am for the people of Kansas. I am now 60 years of age. I have reached that time of life when I cannot have any ambition to be re-elected, and have no desire to be re-elected. What I have to do is to secure the North is to convince the people of the North that I will do right with the people of Kansas."

Mr. Forney, referring to the position of Mr. Buchanan at the time of his nomination for the Presidency, said:

—My heart is overflowing with gratitude for this expression of your kindness, and I have had the pleasure of expressing my thanks to you for your kind words. There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not a man, nor a mother, who can bear with me, to receive the American name from this podium, and this disgrace. Why, gentlemen, I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out to them, and we were not called upon to turn our backs upon our pledges and betray our friendship. [Applause.]"

—There was something too much of this, and when the cap was presented to my lips I said, "I am not up to this subject to go back to Pennsylvania and turn my back upon pledges which I have carried out

